Inclusive Pharmacy Practice: Population Health Management Webinar for Community Pharmacy Professionals

Thursday 19 May 2022, 19.00-21.00

As part of the Inclusive Pharmacy Practice programme, the Royal Pharmaceutical Society, Association of Pharmacy Technicians UK and NHS England and NHS Improvement are holding a joint webinar on Thursday 19 May 2022.

The webinar is aimed at Community Pharmacists and Pharmacy Technicians, but open to all pharmacy professionals wanting to improve their understanding of population health management.

This event will provide an overview of the role of population health intelligence to inform population health management and look at the use of tools such as Fingertips to help inform the management of local population health needs. This event will showcase case studies from leading community pharmacy professionals.

Event objectives

- Develop an understanding of how community pharmacies can work to improve the health of their local population
- Support the development and profile of pharmacy team roles in population health management
- Support collaborative working, network development and peer support
- Facilitate the sharing of best practice
- Support the development of targeted and practical support and resources
- Showcase the Inclusive Pharmacy Practice Resource Pack for Culturally Competent Healthcare
